DRYS STILL SUPREME IN CITY OF BRODHEAD

Brodhead, April 5.—A heavy vote was polled in Brodhead on Tuesday, the main issue being the license question. The drys won out by 170 majority.

W. W. Douglas was chosen mayor, W. O. Green, treasurer, F. P. Skinner, assessor; J. C. Murdoch and Fred Pies, justices; Frank Murphy and Nels McCrady, constables; Ellick Johnson, alderman; and L. J. Stair, supervisor in the first ward.

In the second ward Scott Brobst was chosen for alderman and J. B. Pierce for supervisor.

The Chamblaine club entertained the study clubs and others at the home of the Misses Spaulding on Tuesday afternoon. A twelve-thirty luncheon was served, which was followed by a literary and musical program. There was also an address by Kenneth of Whitewater upon the federation of clubs, which was much enjoyed, and the meeting was indeed a very enjoyable affair.

Carl Pfisterer returned Tuesday to Beloit College, after having spent several days at home.

Mrs. Halfhead visited in Janesville Tuesday.

Mrs. M. Knudson and Miss Louise Knudson were guests of friends in Orfordville on Tuesday.

Miss Alice Emery returned to college at Beloit Tuesday, having been home for the spring vacation.

Mrs. William Bessert spent Tuesday in Janesville.

Mrs. Emma Bartlett was in Durand Tuesday, the guest of Mrs. Eugene Bartlett.

Mrs. W. F. Breyvogel went to Evansville Tuesday, where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Durner.

Will Swanton and George Lyons were in Janesville Tuesday.

Mrs. James McClellan visited in Monroe on Tuesday.

Mrs. and Mrs. Charles French of Monroe were guests on Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keen and family.

The next meeting of the Brodhead and Vicinity Ministerial association will be held on Monday, April 10th, at four o'clock at the Hotel Shorb, in Brodhead. Rev. J. P. Green, pastor of the Jude-Baptist church, will give the address.

RE-ELECT CUMMINGS BY MAJORITY OF 317

DEFEATS SHERIDAN DECISIVELY IN RACE FOR COUNCILMAN, CARRYING FIRST, SECOND AND THIRD WARDS.

PILES UP HEAVY VOTE

Voters Turn Out in Strength, Polling a Total of 2,994 in the Five Wards.—Sheridan Ahead in Two Wards.

Roy M. Cummings was re-elected councilman of Janesville over John J. Sheridan by a majority of 317 in Tuesday's election. Considering the heavy vote that was polled in all of the five wards of the city the victory was a decisive one for Cummings, who piled up a majority of 449 in the first, second and third wards which he carried, and holding his own in the fourth and fifth wards which went for Sheridan. Sheridan's majority in the fourth ward was 81, and in the fifth 51. Cummings' total vote in the city was 1,626 against 1,309 for Sheridan. Results in the fourth ward, which was considered to be Sheridan's stronghold, as it is the ward which he represented in the common council for a number of terms, were surprising to the Sheridan contingent since it was predicted that Sheridan would carry the precinct by a narrow substantial margin. Sheridan's strength was represented in this ward by 407 to Cummings' 326. In the fifth ward also, Cummings pushed his opponent hard, polling 187 to Sheridan's 118.

First returns received last evening were from the first, second and third wards, showing Cummings had a substantial lead and plainly indicating that he was the winner. When the fifth ward returns showed Sheridan's majority but 51, it was evident, with the fourth ward still to hear from, that Cummings was elected by at least 300. With the fourth ward vote reported, Cummings' margin of victory was found to be even more gratifying than expected.

Interest in the returns was immense throughout the city. Hundreds gathered before the Gazette bulletin boards and a large force was kept busy answering telephone calls. Although the result was certain with the vote of the first, second, third and fifth wards reported, the throng waited patiently for the fourth ward count, which was slow in coming in. It was after ten o'clock when the exact figures were announced.

Cummings supporters greeted the news of his victory with a demonstration. The Bowler City band was called out to parade the downtown streets, playing marches of triumph. Mr. Cummings was sought and was carried through the streets in a cage drawn by members of the Lakota club, who were his staunch partisans in the campaign.

Major James A. Fathers expressed his gratification at the result and kept in close touch with the returns as they were reported. Councilman Goodman also expressed his pleasure when informed of his co-workers' re-election. It was evident that the affairs of the city will be administered in the future as they have been of late by a commission, all members of which will be working in harmony with each member thoroughly acquainted with his particular work. The election, in the minds of the city officials, insures a continuance of the effective working organization which has been so painstakingly perfected in the past four years.

The vote of Tuesday was a heavy one, the total mounting close to the 3,000 mark, falling short of that number by but six ballots. The vote by wards was as follows: First, 608; second, 489; third, 748; fourth, 763; fifth, 387. The result is tabulated as follows:

Vote for Councilman.
Cummings	1,626
Sheridan	1,309
First	407
Second	326
Third	501
Fourth	326
Fifth	187

Totals
Cummings' majority, 317.

Unselfish Mother Love

Mother Love is one of the most sacred things in the world. It prompts the mother to give her strength—her life—even gladly—happily—that her child may be safer, happier, stronger or better in every way.

Just a food—especially prepared to aid in making red blood and strong healthy tissue—is what she needs. Then all the natural functions of the body will be easily carried on without the least sense of fatigue or drain. With plenty of red blood in her veins, mother will feel no ill effect from nursing baby.

HEMO will aid mother in supplying baby with a quantity of good quality milk and at the same time improve her general physical condition. When it is impossible to nurse the baby, a secure and most nearly like mother's milk by asking your druggist for Thompson's Food (Peptonized).

We suggest that you try a 50c package with our guarantee of satisfaction.

J. P. Baker, Druggist, Janesville.

April fool jokes, games and music were enjoyed. Mrs. Charlotte Ross assisted her in entertaining.

VOGEL CASE TAKEN TO CIRCUIT COURT

Attorney E. H. Ryan Takes Change of Venue in Case Against William Vogel Today.

Once again the change of venue was taken by Attorney E. H. Ryan and as a result the state case against William Vogel, owner of the Northwestern Hotel at South Janesville, will be tried before Judge George Grimm in the circuit court of Rock county. When Vogel was arraigned in court before Judge H. L. Maxfield this morning an affidavit was filed for the removal of the trial because that from the previous trial of Hon. Judge H. L. Maxfield, before whom the case is set for trial, will not decide impartially.

When the affidavit had been read by the court the change was granted. Whether this will mean a trial for Vogel within a reasonable length of time or if the case will be put over for several months to the next regular term of court, is not known. Just how a court judge could be prejudiced in this case, when a jury trial is possible and gives the verdict, was not explained in the affidavit for a change of venue. No action has been taken on the second case against Vogel, on the complaint that he sold liquor to two minor girls from Milwaukee at the disorderly house at South Janesville.

A jury was empaneled this morning to hear the case of the state against Mrs. Mable Burnett, who is charged with petit larceny. E. H. Ryan is the defending attorney. The case will be heard late this afternoon, according to plans announced at one o'clock.

According to Chief of Police P. D. Champion there is no disposition to drop the prosecution of the case against Mrs. Burnett, and the case is set on the court docket for the seventh, Friday. "As far as I am concerned the case will go to the limit and have always intended that it should from the day of the primary election when the investigation was made, and all reports that the prosecution was to be dropped after election are malicious misstatements, stated the chief with expression when asked if he had heard the reports that it was charged the arrest was made for political purposes.

FIND NO VIOLATIONS IN CITY ON TUESDAY

Police Keep Close Watch Yesterday and Chief Expresses Satisfaction Over Conduct.

Police maintained a close watch for violations of the election laws during the election day, and Chief of Police P. D. Champion this morning expressed satisfaction over the results. Not a single arrest was made for any offense during the day or night, and according to the police and officials the city was "closed as tight as a drum."

Reports that the election laws had been violated at the primaries caused the police to be vigilant yesterday. At several places saloon owners or employees were requested to keep entirely out of their places of business, as suspicion was excited by the presence of men in the saloon as they explained "to clean up" during the off day. One of the hotels were visited by Chief Champion, in person, and one near a polling station was searched thoroughly during the afternoon without a bit of evidence of any violation being found. Police officers were stationed at several of the polls after they had closed, more for the purpose of keeping the impatient crowd back from the polls tables than for any other purpose.

Ladies free tonight at the rink.

WILL CANVASS VOTES WITHIN A FEW DAYS

Election Returns Received By City Clerk This Morning.—Board Meeting This Afternoon.

Election returns to be received by City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund this morning and work of canvassing the votes will be done this afternoon and tomorrow morning. The city council will meet within the next few days to declare the results. Because of the majority obtained by Councilman Roy Cummings not much importance is attached to the canvass of the votes this year.

The board of public works is scheduled to hold a meeting this afternoon for the purpose of taking up the permanent paving schedule and spread the assessments on the property affected. Since Forest Park boulevard will be paved, the board will have to make changes in their plans to include this street, and it is believed that a better contract price can be obtained on an asphaltic-concrete specification since Oakland avenue and the new street may be paved with this type.

Tuesday's Market.

Chicago, April 5.—Armour was in yesterday's hog market for the first time since last Friday. After a shade lower start, traders closed strong. First sold at $9.80 and packing groves, 238¢.

Chicago received 9,000 calves yesterday, two of a few hundred of banner day's receipts. Prices declined to lowest point in a year, with sales largely at $8, or $1 below a week ago and $2.50 lower than record prices last September.

Cattle receipts at all western markets are dwindling and prices are up on the upgrade. There was a general advance of 10¢@15¢ yesterday. Six points received only 15,000, against 32,000 previous Tuesday.

Average price of hogs at Chicago was $9.68, against $9.68 Monday, $9.59 a week ago, $9.85 a year ago, $9.79 two years ago and $9.09 three years ago.

Cattle Trade Is Healthy.

Cattle trade active to extent of limited offerings at 5¢@15¢ advance in prices compared with Monday's close. Quality poor, with only one load of steers above $9.20. Feeding steers sold to go back to the country at $8.70, being within 15¢ of the yard record on feeders.

ELKS HOLD INSTALLATION AND ROLL CALL LAST NIGHT

A complete roll call of all members and the installation of the recently elected officers took place last evening at the regular meeting of the B. P. O. Elks. Following the roll call, a social session was held in the club rooms.

One of the largest attendances of the year was present for the annual roll call. The officers and trustees and one delegate were installed by acting Grand Exalted Ruler Louis Avery, acting Grand Esquire R. E. Ashley and acting Grand Secretary Chas. Snyder. The officers installed were: John Cunningham, exalted ruler; Harold Schwartz, esteemed leading knight; Fred Baker, esteemed loyal knight; Dr. Wm. H. McGhie, esteemed lecturing knight; Hiram Burdock, secretary and Fred Howe, treasurer. C. L. Valentine was installed to succeed L. C. Levy as trustee and Thos. Welch was installed as delegate to the grand lodge which meets in Baltimore this year.

Chairman Green of the house committee expressed himself on the lunch set before the evening of the services. A quartet from Beloit furnished a program which was enjoyed by all.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
San Antonio, Tex., April 4.—Hundreds of once wealthy Mexican aristocrats walk the streets of San Antonio today, pitifully eager for any kind of work, at any wage they can get.
These men, women and children are divided into two classes: the bourgeoisie and the proletariat.

The comic strip consists of 20 panels arranged in two rows of ten. The story follows a character who is being chased and falls into a body of water. The character is then rescued by a character in a tuxedo, who is identified as Julia. The final panel shows the character being rescued by a character in a tuxedo, with the text 'JULIA YOU SAVED MY FATHER'S LIFE' and 'IRON CROSS'.

Copenhagen, Denmark, April—Motorship construction is developing with extraordinary rapidity in Denmark, which took the lead in building of this class of seaworthy when it successfully completed the Selandia a few years ago. At that time a great increase has brought about in the size of motorships. The Selandia was 375 feet length, had a displacement of 3500 tons power and displaced 7,000 tons. She present one yard alone here engaged on the construction number of motor-vessels, each 500 feet in length and to have a displacement of 6,000 horse-power. The same yard has orders for fifty motorships; its ships will be fully occupied them until the end of 1921.

WHO WAS GERONIMO?

The pursuit of Villa has brought up recollections of the pursuit of Aguinaldo," says the Christian Science Monitor. "It has also awakened memories of the pursuit of Geronimo.
Who was he? It is a remarkable fact that while his exploits may be unknown to many in the present generation, just as General Frederick Funston is a tie between Aguinaldo and Villa, so is General Leonard Wood, General Funston's superior, a tie between Geronimo and the Mexican betrayer. Geronimo was a chief of the Chiricahua tribe, and one of the most daring, most persistent, one of the ablest and handsomest Indian 'host-iles' the United States government was called upon to deal with in the nineteenth century. His career as an enemy of the government and a foe of all whites began a year or so before the outbreak of the civil war.
The son of Mangus Colorado, chief of the Warm Spring Chiricahua, Geronimo grew up an apt pupil of Cochise, war chief of the Chiricahua Apaches,
an unyielding tribe of the Southwest and a terror to the settlers of Arizona and New Mexico. In course of time Geronimo succeeded Cochise.
He was as steady in person and as courageous in character as Geronimo, the Seminole chief of history and romance, and just as little disposed to come to any sort of terms with the paleface.

From the hour of his promotion to the chieftaincy he became a source of anxiety to Washington. His depredations were widespread and cruel. He retarded settlement in Arizona and New Mexico and made properly practically worthless over large areas of those territories. General George Crook, one of the noblest Indian campaigners of the period, was given a commission to run Geronimo down, and in the course of time succeeded in "rounding up" every Apache band save Geronimo's. He was a "corner" corner that much-wanted person, but owing to carelessness or treachery, or both, the Indian desperado made his escape into Mexico, much to the disappointment and chagrin of the whole country. This resulted in the removal of Crook from command of the expedition and the appointment in his place of General Nelson A. Miles. Under Miles, Captain, afterward General, H. W. Lawton took up the chase, and in 1886 Geronimo was penned at the junction of San Bernardino and Bavise rivers on the Mexican border, and finally forced to surrender unconditionally. At first he was imprisoned at Ft. Pickens, Florida, and later, at his own request, taken to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, where he was confined until Feb. 17, 1909.

General Wood wears a medal of honor won in the Geronimo campaign, and some of his recollections of that exploit are particularly interesting today, in view of the fact that General Pershing is traversing very much the same kind of country, and is chasing very much the same kind of outlaw.
The obstacles that he has to overcome in the Geronimo pursuit, in fact, General Wood describes them, even at times well-nigh insurmountable.
Most of the hunt was in the extremely mountainous parts of the state of Sonora. "Range follows range," said he recently, "with hardly an excuse for a valley, unless the narrow canons be so considered. The country is sparsely settled for the most part, and in great areas there is no population at all. It produces nothing but a few wild fruits, cactus and more or less game. The hunt was so intense thirty years ago that the men could not hold their hands on the iron parts of their guns, nor touch the rocks."

"It is very true, as General Wood remarks, that the conditions Lawton's command had to face thirty years ago must be faced by Pershing's command now. The Apaches knew every inch of the ground, so, perhaps, do the Villistas, but what the United States troopers engaged in such expeditions do not know at the beginning they soon learn. They had to learn how to move through trackless wilds of the Philippines in pursuit of Agui-naldo, but they eventually succeeded, as they did at an earlier time in the pursuit of Geronimo. General Wood, who was in one of these expeditions, and General Pershing who was in the other, have expressed no doubt as to how the third, in which both are deeply concerned, will come out."

COUNCILMAN CUMMINGS.

The strenuous campaign for the selection of city councilman is over.
The majority of the voters have decided that in Roy M. Cummings they have a good, faithful, honest and efficient city officer and he will continue in office for six years longer. Almost every trick and subterfuge known to wily politicians was brought into play but proved unavailing when the final count was taken and the question of efficiency was considered.

Mr. Cummings carried three of the four wards of the city very handily and his vote in the other two was most satisfactory to his friends. He goes back into office with the handsome endorsement of a majority of three hundred and seventeen over his opponent after one of the largest votes in the history of the city had been counted.

It was not a question of religion, nationality, whether Councilman Goodman had failed to take orders from men who thought they controlled him or not, but of efficiency that won and also a repudiation of the tales told relative to administration affairs which were incorrect. It was a victory for clean government of the people, for the people and by the people and not gang rule or a return to old star chamber days of the common council.

COSTLY FASHIONS.

The United States professes pride in its own individuality. All the same it is constantly copying the Old World.
Paris fashions have a luster, probably mostly mental, that no native costume can impart.

Just now new social currents of far-reaching force are gathering strength as outgrowths of the war.
One of the new ideas is the reported effort of the German government to restrict future fashions for more economy of material. All the warring powers have urged their people to wear simple and serviceable clothes.
There will be little money after the war to waste on futile style changes.

Will this affect American habits?
It seems inappropriate that America should continue to trim itself in the changing alterations of its peacock feathers, with Europe wearing its simpler and simple black. Also fashion is a big part of our high cost of living, in the discarding of clothes before they are half worn out.

If women change styles frequently to make themselves attractive to men, it largely fails of its effect. Men don't know what is correct style, and what isn't.

The old time woman smirked and smiled and languished before the idea of creating, hoping that they would fail to copy to their conquests charms. The modern woman is more independent of masculine approval or disapproval. She should have her own satisfactions, whether or not her clothes captivate the male population.

But usually women's clothes are designed principally to make an impression on their own sex. In that respect they succeed. While the Fair Lady is uttering her honeyed words, her critical eye is wandering over the details of her friend's appearance.
Some women can ignore solecisms, but it takes firm principles to do it. And it will take resolution to throw down too frequent style changes. But if the leaders of society would set the fashion of not having so many fashions, it would go.

IS LA FOLLETTE BEATEN?

Early returns from throughout the state indicate that the four delegates at large to the republican national convention headed by Governor Phillips have been successful and that in a majority of the eleven congressional districts the anti-LaFollette question has been elected with a decision as to several others claimed by the LaFollette faction. If these early returns be correct it would appear that the voters of Wisconsin have repudiated Senator LaFollette and his presidential aspirations and have given Governor Phillips a statewide endorsement that he well deserves.

Milwaukee is to have another taste of socialism and the new mayor will be named Hoan. They say it was accomplished by a deal between the LaFollette leaders and the socialists to trade votes. Politics makes strange bed fellows to say the least.

Now that the campaign is over the next question is to help the women establish a city rest room. It is a plan that every business man should be personally interested in and one they can not fail to support.

Janesville is to have a Fourth of July celebration this year. Other cities in the vicinity please sit up and take notice for when Janesville holds a celebration every two years it is some celebration.

Working off wool doughnuts on people April 1st is a rowdy and hood-lum trick, but selling war munition stocks, sure to go down when peace is declared, is a sign of substantial respectability.

The Janesville Park association is quietly saving wood and not saying much, but the coming Janesville Fair is going to be bigger, better, grander and more elaborate than ever.

It would look as though Hughes would have to accept the presidential nomination whether he wishes it or not if the results count for anything.

The floods now being mostly over,
consideration of how to avert food damage will be adjourned until the rivers get high next spring.

They have a new marching song down in Mexico these days and they call it "Long Way to Temporary" instead of Tipperary.

The fact that gasoline has gone up another five cents is no special reason why your best girl should suggest a nice, long automobile ride.

It is officially announced that Col.
Nonesuch has signified his intention of making his headquarters in Janesville on July Fourth.

Admiral Fluke says 25 per cent of the navy money is wasted. This should spur on the politicians to get even more of it.

Think of Superior going dry by thirty majority? Really, one can never know what marvels will happen in Silver Joe's town.

The seat of the city government is still at the city hall and no where else, thank you kindly.

JANESVILLE WILL CELEBRATE FOURTH

COMMERCIAL CLUB SPECIAL COMMITTEE WILL RECOMMEND PLANS.

TO NAME COMMITTEES

To Have Charge of the Entire Celebration Which Will Be More Elaborate Than Ever Before.

Janesville will celebrate the nation's birthday, July Fourth, if the decision reached on Tuesday afternoon by the special committee of the Commercial Club and the committee of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association is accepted by the directors of the Commercial Club at their regular meeting on Monday noon next.

The Retail Dealers' association pledged the committee one thousand dollars to start the general fund with the Commercial Club will name a special committee to act as an executive committee, which will in turn be divided into various sub-committees, and it is expected that fully fifty will be working in the various activities.

Positive plans discussed included a morning parade and the famous None Such Bros. burlesque circus in the afternoon, with plenty of band music and lots of free vaudeville. The plans will be taken up in detail at a joint meeting of the two special committees to be held on Monday evening next in the library room of the Gazette at eight o'clock.

By entering the race at this early date it is expected that Janesville will be given the preference by adjacent communities that have contemplated a celebration, for when Janesville celebrates the whole surrounding country usually takes a day off to come to "town" and view the sights. The plans for this year discussed would make it a more ambitious display than ever before undertaken.

"Y" BOYS TO GO ON BIKE EXPEDITION

Boys of Association to Take Bicycle Trip Tomorrow—Will Meet Beloit Bunch—Other Activities.

"Bike ride day" is on the schedule for the vacation program at the Young Men's Christian Association tomorrow. All the boys should get their bicycles out and be at the "Y" tomorrow morning at nine-thirty o'clock ready for the all day bike. The Beloit association members will be on their bike too and the two groups will meet half way between here and the Line City.

A regular "chord" lunch will be served at the noon hour and every body will sure have a good time. The roads between here and Beloit have been reported to be in good shape so that the riding will be easy for every one.

At home the boys' department will be open all day for use and the bible clubs will meet at their regular scheduled time.

Tonight the members of the News Boys' club will meet at a big social in the club rooms. Seven o'clock is the time set for the entertainment and all members should be on hand to spend a social hour with the "Y." The Iroquois Bible club will meet tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock to sit down at a "kitchen social" in the kitchen.

Ladies free tonight at the rink.

SWEAR OUT WARRANT FOR ALLEGED THIEF

Milwaukee Police Holding Ed. Kelly of This City, Who Will be Brought Back Here.

Edward Kelly, a man who has resided in this city for a few months, and is in the custody of the Milwaukee police and is in their custody until Chief of Police P. D. Champion serves a jury warrant on the prisoner Thursday morning. Kelly was arrested at the Milwaukee police when he tried to peddle a lady's gold watch.

The Milwaukee authorities got in touch with Chief Champion and an inquiry was made to ascertain if any person in this city had such a watch stolen from them. Through the number, it was found that the time piece was owned by a girl named Cora O'Brien, residing on West Bluff street, and that the watch had been stolen from the residence recently. A grand jury warrant was sworn out on the complaint of Champion from the court this afternoon.

PARISIAN BAR REDUCED OF YOUNGER MEMBERS AS THEY HAVE GONE TO WAR

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, April 5.—The Parisian bar has been reduced to its lowest terms by drafts upon it for military service. There are no longer any of the young members left. It was a young lawyer, or "stagiaire" as he is called, who was generally assigned to the defense of accused persons who had been charged with the crime of desertion. Monsieur Henri Robert, head of the order of advocates of Paris, who chooses these officials, designated counsel, was obliged the other day to call upon Monsieur Ernest Cartier, 55 years old, formerly at the head of the order of advocates, himself to defend a man accused of a criminal offense.

THE "MILWAUKEE" ERECTS A NEW MILESTONE IN TRANSPORTATION ACHIEVEMENT.

When early in January of this year the first electrically drawn "Olympian" mounted with ease the vast ramparts of the mighty Rockies, a page was turned in the history of transportation, and a new chapter—"The Electrical Era in Railroad"—began.

Splendid have been the past chapters in western up-building where the pathfinders Lewis and Clark, prairie schooner, the pony express, the first wood-burning locomotives, and later the great Mallet steam locomotives, have each in turn led the march of transportation development.

But the world is ever moving onward to greater economies, greater efficiencies, greater delights, and the electrical era will challenge the Past in splendid achievement, calling on mountain streams for their tremendous perpetual power, mastering the mountain barriers with the ease of the prairies, hauling heavier loads with greater dispatch, and leaving the beautiful mountain solitudes unsullied by smoke, soot and cinders. Electric service stands as a monumental milestone in transportation achievement.

On your next trip northwest, take the "Milwaukee." Equipment, roadbed, scenery and service all combine to make this the premier transcontinental route to Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma.

COUNTRY HIGHWAYS IN POOR CONDITION

C. E. Moore, County Highway Commissioner, Appeals to Farmers to Help Making Better Roads.

During the extremely wet weather that has prevailed for several months past, and especially this spring, the highways have suffered to an unprecedented extent. Long stretches of old country highways have been cut through into the sub-grade and unimproved roads on main lines have been reported to the county.

County highways have been repeatedly dragged and crowned with a roller, only to be followed by another wet spell. Our men are now engaged all over the county in what we hope will be the final round-up of the spring dragging and crowning of the roads that have been built by the county.

I have been pleased to note in my travels that a considerable number of farmers are dragging the town roads also. I take this occasion to appeal to all farmers to continue the good work wherever until all the roads are in good shape and put in condition for the coming travel. Otherwise the roads are so badly rutted, if allowed to remain in that condition until the hot sun strikes them, will bake and be difficult to anything with.

I want to be the first duty of the new town boards to conduct a road improvement campaign in every township for the next few days before the farmers get busy in the fields. Now is the ideal time. Let us all co-operate and carry the good work to its completion. If town chairmen particularly would see their constituents or call on them by the phone and appeal to them to get onto a drag, or better still, a roller, and smooth the roads in their vicinity, they would be surprised at the response. The spirit is now here.

CHAS. E. MOORE,
County Highway Commissioner.

Pure in the Can—

MAKE your watch-word "Purely First." Be sure the Baking Powder you use is not only pure in the can but also pure in the baking. The problem of how to be absolutely sure is solved by Calumet Baking Powder.

Every ingredient used passes the government and the state pure food laws. This is a true guarantee of its purity.

No human hand ever touches

Calumet Baking Powder

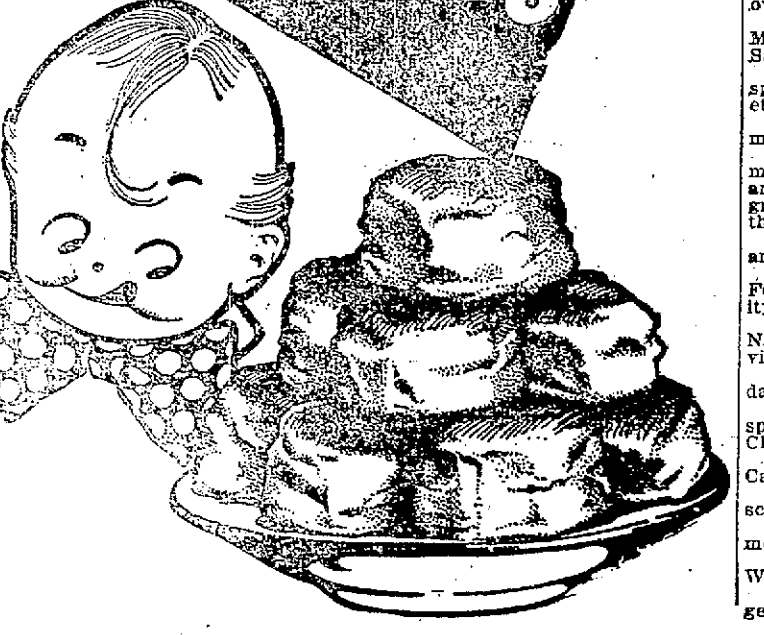

Both the wonderful machinery and the hundreds of employees that make Calumet are always "strict and span" in the latest, most sanitary Baking Powder factory in the world.

The strict test of Calumet purity, dependability, wholesomeness and uniformity is really in the baking. Millions of careful housewives, domestic science experts, hotel, restaurant and other institutions have made the famous Calumet Baking Powder Test. Now these same millions use Calumet exclusively.

Even the President's Wedding Cake was made with Calumet. This is conclusive proof of its purity and superiority.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

CHAPTER 41.

Railroad Laborers, Prisoners, and Hospital Patients Fed on Polished Rice—The Same People Fed on Natural Rice—Rice Thrive Indefinitely, while the Straps of Malnutrition, one of them with polished white steam rice of best quality and the other with unpolished, natural whole rice, every effort was made to interchange of clothing by persons in contact, and by living in the same group, to convey the disease to the group, that is, the unpolished rice, but not a single case developed. The process was then reversed.

The group that partook of the polished rice was put upon a diet of unpolished rice and vice-versa. Within another period of approximately sixty days the group partaking of the polished rice developed beriberi, and the members had remained immune while on a diet of the natural, unrefined rice.

The results of these experiments were further confirmed in Manila by the treatment of rice polishings in the which showed immediate improvement in their condition, and except where the disease was too far advanced, permanently recovered when the mineral salts and vitamins removed from white polished rice were restored to their diet.

In view of the evidence upon which the discovery of the disease was established, a recommendation was made to the governor general of the Philippine Islands to forbid the use of polished rice in public institutions.

In the quarterly report of the Bureau of Health of the Philippine Islands for the first quarter of 1910 appeared this statement:

"It is hoped by this means not only to eradicate the disease from such places, but also that it may serve as an education factor in disseminating knowledge as to the method by which such disease may be avoided."

Following the recommendation of the investigators the governor general issued an executive order, June 3, 1910, to all health officers and physicians throughout the islands forbidding the use of polished white rice in all government workshops, prisons, hospitals and other institutions, and directing the officials having control of such institutions to see that the provisions of this edict were complied with at once.

Thus it was determined that polished rice was bad food in the Philippines, even though elsewhere people could eat it as they wished.

Under date of March 1910, I received a communication from Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, then chief of the bureau of chemistry, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Wiley, as you know, was forced to resign from the government service as a result of his activities in pursuing food frauds. It was seen that his activities were becoming a menace to many commercial institutions built upon the foundation of food corruption and fraud. Of that we shall learn something later.

Dr. Wiley said: "It seems to me that in this country we should not even in a small way, the condition of nutrition which would favor the development of such a disease as beriberi or some other disease due to the debasement of rice from polishing."

"Rice is becoming a more general diet in this country and the dealer who first begins the campaign for pure, unadulterated rice will promote the cause in a commercial way which will do much toward protecting the health of the people."

It had been calling the attention of all the wholesale grocery houses in New York City to the fact with little actual result, but upon the receipt of Dr. Wiley's communication, Francis I. Leggett & Co., with which wholesale grocery house I was then connected, decided to restore to the market brown rice to the people. It was evident that a serious accident Saturday afternoon, when he and his wife were driving home, the horse he was driving became frightened at some planks that had just been laid on a bridge they were about to pass over, and started backing. Mr. Bowles was dragged along a barbed wire fence and severely cut about his head, and the services of a doctor were needed to sew up the numerous gashes. Mrs. Bowles escaped with minor injuries.

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I go with a young man who is very well respected. There is another girl in town who seems to think a great deal of him. When he goes any place she is sure to be near him. He is so talkative to her and seems to like her. Do you think he likes her better than he does me?

(2) If he wanted to go with this girl better than he does me, do you think he would take dates with me?

(3) When a boy asks a girl to kiss her and she refuses, and the boy tells her she has never gone with many boys, what should she think or say?

(4) I went with a boy a few times and quit him because he began to go with another girl who lives very close to where I live. If he should go with me again should I consent or refuse? He seems to think a lot of me and always speaks.

(5) Should a girl go with several boys if she is not engaged to anyone?

(6) When a boy takes a girl home, what should she say before going in the house?

(7) Is it right for a girl to meet boys at a place other than her home, if her parents object?

THANK YOU.
(1) If he liked her better than he does you he would probably take her instead of you.

(2) He might make dates with both of you.

(3) She should say that if girls kiss boys as a result of going with several of them she is not a virgin. She should think that what he said was rude and childish.

(4) If you like him let him come to see you. He is perfectly free to go with whom he pleases. You know, and you have no reason to resent his attentions to the other girl.

(5) If there are several boys she really likes it is all right for her to go with them. So many girls go with boys just for the sake of "going," and they cheapen themselves by doing so.

(6) Thank you for taking me home. Come to see me sometime.

(7) It is not right.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a boy seventeen years of age and I go to see a girl about once a week and sometimes twice, and I always carry her candy. I like her very well and she says that she likes me, but she writes notes and letters to another fellow, and she also likes him very well from what I have heard. The other fellow is going to see her some night if she is willing. Do you think she really likes me?

(2) How often should a fellow call on a girl?

(3) The girl may like to have you come to see her because of the candy you take her. When you call for the next five or six times don't take any candy and if she seems just as glad to have you come, she probably likes you.

(4) Once a week is enough.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please give me a remedy for removing moles?

(2) Will you please give me a remedy for superfluous hair on the face?

(3) Which do you consider the more appropriate place for a baccalaureate sermon for graduates to be delivered, the high school auditorium or the church of the minister who will deliver the sermon?

AN ANXIOUS READER.
(1) and (2) The only safe way to remove moles and superfluous hair is with the electric needle.

(3) The baccalaureate sermon should be delivered at the church.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Are delicate colored waists going to be worn with white skirts this summer?

(2) Would it be better to wear a waist with a corduroy or linen skirt?

(3) Are stockings the color of the waist going to be worn? PET.

(4) It would look well with both.

(5) They will be worn some.

GINGLES' JINGLES

INTELLECT AND MUS.

The reason why we don't succeed is not a myth to us, the fault is ours, for we have got the intellect and mus; we strike our gait and hit'er up, it seems we're winning out, but soon the bug gets dopy, and our cinch is turned to doubt. Some folly or some pleasure lopes along and clogs the game, and we are skidded down a few, and listed with the lame; remorse then grabs the place of thrift and sits upon the throne—we're not the busy bee of old, we're likened to the drone. The trouble is we'd rather fit along the giddy path than get right down to good hard work, and be like him that bath; and if we're honest with ourselves, one thing we must confess, some little pleasure always stands between us and success. But are we thus to gallop through this vale of care and strife and leave the world no better as we beat it on through life? Is anything more useless than the bunch that loafs and roams, and use their spinless frames for naught but jitters for their homes? We'd better shake the creaky van, and get the modern bus, and show the world we still are there with the world we intellect and mus.

low and leave that way for one-half hour. The bread will not brown or burn. Then gradually turn on more heat until you have browned it to suit your own taste. Takes about forty-five to fifty minutes to bake.

New Nut Loaf—Two cups soft bread crumbs, one cup milk, two cups chopped nut meats, half teaspoon salt, one egg, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and one tablespoon butter or bacon fat. Soak crumbs in milk until soft, add remaining ingredients, pour into pan, bake with water and butter. Bake one hour. Serve hot or cold with tomato sauce.

"Good Cookies"—This recipe makes three dozen cookies. One-half cup sugar, one-half cup lard and butter one egg, pinch salt, five teaspoons milk, one-half teaspoon soda (scent), one-half nutmeg grated, one cup flour, one cup oatmeal, one-half cup raisins (cut in half), one-half cup nut meats (cut). Mix all together thoroughly, roll out on board flat one-fourth inch thick (or less), cut with cookie cutter, bake slowly (about fifteen minutes), according to oven. If, after you've tried them, there are any left, they will keep for weeks.

Quick Luncheon Dish—Take a few slices of cold boiled ham, sprinkle with brown sugar and a little dry mustard. Fry a delicate brown and serve with creamed potatoes.

Household Hints

WINTER VEGETABLES.
Glazed Onions—Six medium-sized white onions, one cup brown stock, bread crumbs, sugar or soy bean. Boil onions in water fifteen minutes, then remove and dry. Butter baking dish and, after putting in onions, pour over them the stock. This can be made from a bouillon cube if necessary. Sprinkle bread crumbs over the top and cook until onions are soft. A little sage or bay leaf adds to the flavor.

Cabbage Cakes—One cooked cabbage cold, one tablespoon butter, salt, (for garnishing), hot water or milk, red pepper. Run cooked cabbage through colander, using a wooden spoon, adding a little hot water or milk, if necessary, to aid it through. To the cabbage add butter, egg, salt and touch of red pepper. Bake twenty minutes in buttered baking dish, and serve in a cake on a hot platter. Garnish with hard-boiled eggs.

Cauliflower With Cheese—Boil head of cauliflower whole in salt water, changing water several times to keep vegetable white. When cauliflower is tender, remove from water and drain, cover with cream sauce, sprinkle generous quantity of grated cheese over top and put back in oven until cheese is melted.

Sweet Potato Soufflé—Boil medium-sized sweet potatoes with their skins on until tender. Remove from water, peel and mash. Season with salt and butter, then stir in two well-beaten eggs. Beat all light and pour into buttered baking dish. When brown, flavor with cinnamon and serve.

COUGH SYRUP.
Take one teaspoon horseradish roots washed and sliced, pour one quart boiling water over it, boil twenty minutes, strain; add one teaspoon brown sugar, two tablespoons vinegar, boil to a syrup. Take one teaspoonful every hour.

THE TABLE.
Good Bread Recipe—Take three pinches flour and sift to a large serving kettle. With your hand gently push the flour towards the edges of the pan, making a hole or nest in the center. (Do not pack the flour down hard.) Take one cake butter, beat it light and crumbly between your hands into the nest. Pour one teaspoon lukewarm water over yeast and beat with tablespoon until the consistency of pancake batter. Cover with a cloth, keep moderately warm, and let rise until bubbles form on top. (Takes about 1½ hours.) Then add one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon lard, three-fourths pint lukewarm water, knead gently. If pan seems sticky, add a slight sprinkle of flour and let this mixture rise until it cracks open. (Take 1½ to two hours.) Then knead down, divide in half and place in greased pans and let rise until it doubles itself. Place in oven with one gas burner turned.

Jelly Roll Recipe
Only Two Eggs Required
By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep for a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth; trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll
One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ½ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth; trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Jagers Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

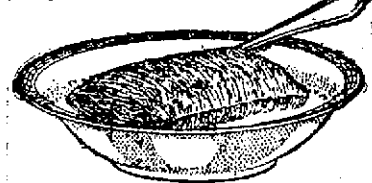

Of course you will let us know as soon as you get back what you have learned," said Nell as she kissed Olive good-night.

One-half cup sugar, one-half cup lard and butter one egg, pinch salt, five teaspoons milk, one-half teaspoon soda (scent), one-half nutmeg grated, one cup flour, one cup oatmeal, one-half cup raisins (cut in half), one-half cup nut meats (cut). Mix all together thoroughly, roll out on board flat one-fourth inch thick (or less), cut with cookie cutter, bake slowly (about fifteen minutes), according to oven. If, after you've tried them, there are any left, they will keep for weeks.

Quick Luncheon Dish—Take a few slices of cold boiled ham, sprinkle with brown sugar and a little dry mustard. Fry a delicate brown and serve with creamed potatoes.

ARMY BRIDE VISITS CAPITAL FROM WEST

Mrs. Harry Dwight Chamberlain.

Mrs. Harry Dwight Chamberlain, wife of Lieut. Chamberlain of Fort Riley, Kansas, has been one of the brilliant additions to army and navy society this winter. Mrs. Chamberlain, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ernest Garlington, has spent part of the winter season in Washington on a visit to her parents and part in New York city.

NOTABLES ATTEND FLOWER SHOW HELD IN NEW YORK.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

New York, April 5.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their daughter, Princess Patricia, (Princess Pat), are to attend the opening of the International Flower Show at Grand Central Palace here today, as patrons of the Canadian Red Cross Tea Garden, a feature of the big show.

New York society is much interested in the coming of the Canadian nobles, who will remain here several days before going west on an extended visit to several mid-western and western cities of the United States.

Today's entertainment for the Governor General of Canada, the Duchess and Princess Pat, whose regiment in the Canadian expeditionary force in Europe has so distinguished itself, is under the direction of Miss Margaret Cameron, official representative of the Canadian Red Cross in the United States.

Canada is taking an important part in the flower show, and also has a delegation of fifty charming Canadian hospital lasses serving in the tea garden, which is one of the prettiest and most elaborate features of the show.

A committee of Canadians will assist Miss Cameron, who is a sister of Mrs. Belmont Tiffany. Miss Tiffany and Mrs. William Kinnebrew Draper are assuming active management of the tea garden. The Canadian committee will include Mrs. William Dodson, Mrs. Dr. Charles H. Peck and Miss Hay.

The big International Flower show in the Palace from April 5 to 12, inclusive will be the greatest show that this country or probably the world has ever known.

Somehow we do not seem to take out as much as we put in, and we seem to be taking out more than we have put in, and congratulate ourselves that we have cheated the balance.

But it is not so. Things will even themselves up eventually in one way or another. We may receive more love than we give yet be the ultimate losers because we lose in the capacity for loving. The compensations of life are more delicately adjusted than we with our crude perceptions can ever know.

American florists will show many new creations, and there is constantly increasing interest among amateurs. The Far East will make contributions, while Australia and South Africa and different South American countries will be among the exhibitors.

A special new feature of this show will be the rock garden exhibits. This style of garden is comparatively new in America, but is beginning to excite considerable interest. The idea may be carried out in many ways, in all of which rocks, stones, gaggles, posts, mossy banks, creviced walls, and rugged settings predominate. Such gardens properly planned and planted with the many varieties of plants adapted to it is a delight, and after about two years has the appearance of age so much sought in our newly laid out grounds.

THE WOMEN'S COUNCIL

Edited by MRS. ABBIE HELMS

"Let Us Meet and Counsel Together"

HUNTING FOR HAPPINESS.
We all must wear out and run down sooner or later, and it is a fine thing to be of some good in the world and of some use to others while doing it. It is a fine thing to be of some good in the world and of some use to others while doing it. It is a fine thing to be of some good in the world and of some use to others while doing it.

THE REST ROOM.
Now that the way is opened for the (trout of a down town rest room, it is up to everyone interested to get together and boost the proposition good and hard, where help is needed. It will not do to say "Oh, let us have a down town rest room." It means a big, strong financial backing to get the plan through, for even a year's time. And it is up to the women to make a start toward a substantial guarantee so that those who are looking for a rest room should have something to rely on. A strong financial committee and a personal subscription among the club women will give prominence to the idea. Their approval of the proposition should feel some responsibility in trying to make it a success and one the city can be proud of. If a desirable room can be secured, an effort should be made immediately, before the club disbanded for summer, to get financial part of the undertaking assured. But it is quite necessary that the place secured for the room should be the best possible, that it may have the cooperation of the business men. Otherwise the plan will lack dignity and fail by its own weight.

WISCONSIN ART EXHIBIT.
This fine collection of pictures has been much enjoyed during the past week and the Art League feels that it has been a most successful effort in art has been appreciated. When we study and think of art, it is always something that has been done by human hands, and the fact is that we are equal to those in Europe. The exhibit was a success in that it made an appeal to all classes of people, from the artist to the layman. The few crude drawings in the public schools to those students of art who are well advanced in technique. The pictures cover a wide range of subjects and give the idea of the Wisconsin artists are doing. Dudley Craig Watson, who served as head of the jury passing on these pictures, contributed a lovely study of a garden at Geneva Lake. The painting shown by Adam Emery Albright in this collection is hung directly over the specimen of his work owned by the Art League, and admirably shows his difference in treatment of the same subjects. The Cottage Madonna by Mrs. Shultz is appealing and fine, and Old Fashioned Roses by Adolph Knudsen has many admirers. A Summer Afternoon by Erickson is a beautiful study of soft green, enveloped in a haze showing very pleasing atmospheric effects. Heine's Mexican picture is a study in color and shows very correct and careful drawing. Frank V. Dudley's snow scene, "The Sentinels," causes much comment and discussion of its merits. Our local artists, who have very kindly contributed specimens of their work to the exhibit, ought to be proud of the studies they have brought and the very favorable comparison which has been made with the other paintings shown. Janesville can be proud of her local students of art, and of the Art League, which has always steadily fostered the art spirit of the community.

PHILOMATHIAN CLUB.
This organization held its regular meeting on Saturday, April 1st, with Mrs. A. Jenkins on Milton Ave. The president, Mrs. Munn, presided and Mrs. C. Thompson served as secretary. These ladies were elected delegates to the district federation meeting to be held April 25 and 26 and the other two officers of the clubs as alternates. Mrs. Taylor was elected delegate to the Biennial meeting to be held in New York in May.

The regular study program of the day was on Alaska. It began with a description of the country and an outline of its history by Miss Cora Clemens. In spite of its being twice the size of Texas it has only 40,000 population and 500 miles of railroad. The scenery equals that of Switzerland and the glaciers are the largest in the world.

The mines of Alaska were given by Mrs. Capelle who said that the lack of railroads into the interior and the scarcity of labor had retarded their development. The Treadwell mine situated on the Douglas Islands had a very low grade gold bearing ore, but over 58 millions of dollars worth have been taken out. Marble of the best quality and in various colors of color are found. Coal beds with an area of 12 miles square, extensive petroleum fields, potash and also antimony quicksilver and tungsten are found in extensive deposits. The copper mines will be of great value when the native coal is mined so it can be used for fuel.

Other residents of Alaska were given by Mrs. Koebelin who said that the lush grasses, the wonderful wild flowers and the prolific gardens helped to make beautiful the short summers. The berries are delicious and a season of two months bearing of apples, cherries and hardy nuts do well. The salmon fisheries are of great importance and the revenue derived from this product have repaid the original cost of the territory thirty times over.

The seal herds on the Pribiloff Co. are a source of much wealth and the animals were in danger of extermination and it was necessary to prohibit the hunting of them for a period of five years.

The introduction and care of reindeer was fostered by the government and the herd is protected now numbers 40,000 head.

On terms on the various islands have also been very successful and profitable.

A postponed paper on China and Feby of our forefathers was given by Mrs. Munn, who spoke of the different kinds of glaze and paste used in its manufacture and the early history of its production especially in England.

The oriental and delft wares, spode, wedge wood, lodestaff, lustre ware and many others were mentioned and described.

It was said that men were more enthusiastic collectors of china than women and had written more books on the subject.

After the study program, delicious refreshments were served.

FLAG DAY FOR BELGIAN RELIEF.
Members of the National Society of the D. A. R. all over the United States are receiving circular letters from the president, Mrs. Daisy Allen Storey, asking that they cooperate in making Saturday and Sunday, April 8th and 9th, as special flag days, for raising money for the relief of the destitute Belgians. Accompanying the letter are bundles of small paper flags and the plan is that they be sold and worn on the two days mentioned, by all charitably inclined people everywhere. The amount to be asked for each flag is not less than seven cents, which is the absolute cost of food for one destitute person in Belgium for one day. The whole enterprise of flag day is under the auspices of the National A. D. A. R. and of their local chapters who will assist in the undertaking and turn over the amount received to the proper officers. The food and clothing for three million stricken people is furnished strictly through "The Commission for Relief in Belgium," and it is for the work of this body that the D. A. R. are making this special effort.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

(Items from Relief Corps correspondents of the state received and condensed by department press correspondent, Carrie A. Glenn.)

George Drake corps No. 86, Milwaukee, presented a flag to the Presbyterian church. A patriotic program was rendered. The committee of the post gave the history of the flag, and they also presented on the public school at Dover township, one to St. James' church, also one to the Italian Mission church, which was received with great enthusiasm and appreciation by the church. Birthday socials and lunches are frequent and the post gets a bit of everything.

St. Croix Falls McKinnis corps reported presenting four silk flags to the grades of their public school on Washington's birthday. A suitable program was furnished by the school. Mrs. Moore presented a patriotic instructor, in behalf of the W. R. C. C. presented the flags, and Prof. Nash in a pleasant manner accepted the gift of the W. R. C. C.

The Sheridan post, Oshkosh, outdid themselves in entertaining the W. R. C. C. The men prepared the meal from start to finish, and made first class waiters. The ladies pronounced it a success. Correspondent didn't state who washed the dishes. The ladies furnished an entertaining program as a return for the compliment. Great success was given Mr. Bronson and son for their staging. Also the Flinn orchestra, composed of Mrs. Flinn and her three sons. The orchestra is composed of piano, violin, cornet and clarinet.

CLUB STARTS CLASSES IN GARDENING.
The Garden Club of Illinois. The club, which is a woman's organization, was formed for the purpose of landscape gardening and allied subjects, and much enthusiasm in the opportunity which will be afforded by the new course is being manifested among its members. Mrs. E. L. Smith and Cyrus H. McCormick have offered the arboretum contained on their respective estates as a laboratory for students in the course of the new course. A number of other ladies have also offered the use of whatever facilities their grounds offer for the purpose. Eight persons have enlisted.

CONCERTS FOR SUNDAY AFTERNOONS.
Now that the summer is coming on, plans have been made for a series of band concerts to be held on both sides of the river and in the evening. Why wouldn't it be a good plan for to attract the young people to be given on Sunday afternoons in the park? The program might embrace many of the old well-loved songs, as well as some of the sacred music, and be a most enjoyable and pleasing way to spend a summer afternoon.

It is a feature of many cities during the hot season to have these Sunday concerts, and in some places the club women have been instrumental in having them introduced. Then why not try the plan in Janesville and have something besides the movies and baseball to attract the young people and provide a place for them to go on Sundays?

ATHENA CLASS.
This organization met at the public library, March 23. The study of the History of Wisconsin was continued. Subject, "The State in the War of Secession, and Since the War." Papers were read on the following topics: "Wisconsin's Attitude in the War," "Heroes in the War and Heroines at Home," Mrs. Bates, "In Memoriam, Cushing Monument, Chataqua Field of Battle, etc.," Mrs. E. L. Smith, "The State Historical Museum," Mrs. Blair, "Political History," Mrs. Burdham, "Social and Economic Conditions," Mrs. Campbell, "Wisconsin in Wisconsin," Mrs. Catpole, "Review of Autobiography of John Miner," Mrs. Clinton.

CLUBS NOT FEDERATED ASKED TO TAKE ACTION

The president of the City Federation, Mrs. S. M. Smith, has sent in a request that the clubs which have not federated take up the question of joining the City Federation, at their first regular meeting. The clubs so federating have their presidents on the Board of Directors, as a regular member, in connection with the officers of the City Federation and the Chairman of Standing Committees. If a president for any reason, cannot serve on the Board of Directors, she has the privilege of naming an appointee to serve in her place. A meeting will be called of the Board of Directors, as well as a general meeting of the members of the City Federation when the clubs have had time to take up the question and pass upon it.

MRS. ABBIE HELMS,
Secretary of City Federation.

O. E. S. STUDY CLASS.

The regular meeting of this club will be held on Thursday, April 6th, with Mrs. Percy Munger at 316 Madison street. It will be "Grand Opera Day" and the response to roll call will consist of the Songs of Long Ago. Selections from "Madam Butterfly" will be played and the interpretation given by Mrs. Stevens. In the same way will be rendered "The Trovatore" with accompanying notes by Mrs. Martha Howe and "Jewels of the Madonna" by Mrs. Fatzinger. The hostesses assisting Mrs. Munger are Mrs. Sherer and Mrs. Kimberley.

THE LOANI BAND.

This organization holds its regular meeting at the parlors of the Congregational church on Tuesday evening, April 11th. Tea served at 6:15 in charge of the hostesses Mrs. Charles Lange and Mrs. Mary Buckmaster. The evening program is at 7 o'clock with Mrs. J. A. Craig as leader, the topic being "Two Heroines of Two Faiths."

Meeting of the W. C. T. U.
The local Temperance society met this week Wednesday, April 3, 1916, with Mrs. Henry Fritts, 1127 Wheeler street, Mrs. Ellen Copp, and Mrs. L. J. Conner, as business conductors. The subject of the meeting was "The Temperance Movement in the World." A number of new members to the organization had been enrolled. A good program and meeting of interest in the work were features of the afternoon.

THE DRAMATIC LEAGUE.
A large attendance marked the meeting of the Dramatic League held at the City Hall on Monday evening, April 3. A discussion of current dramatic news and a study of the play "The Mob" by Galsworthy, were the subjects of the evening. The subjects of study for the remainder of the season have not yet been chosen.

THE CIVIC LEAGUE.
This organization will hold its regular April meeting on Monday, April 10 at the City Hall at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present as business of importance must be taken up. Matters pertaining to the next room proposition, the city campaign and clean up day are awaiting action by the club.

THE WESTMINSTER GUILD.
This organization met on Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church. A supper was served at 6:30 and the program was taken up later, as follows: Social Christianism in England, "The Lane Walk and the Blind See," Miss Grace Youngclaus, "Social Christianity in India and Burma," Miss Marie McCulloch, story, "A Hidden Gospel," Mrs. Elma Scofield, "The Effect of War on Missionary Work," Mrs. W. R. Keller.

JOHN T. REYNOLDS CIRCLE OF LADIES OF THE G. A. R.

This organization is planning to give two concerts under its auspices in the near future. Pleasing programs have been arranged for the events.

THE BIBLE INSTITUTE.
The regular meeting of this organization will be held at the Carville Methodist church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The usual exercises and classes for bible study will be held.

POPULATION OF IRELAND WAS INCREASED DURING YEAR

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dublin, April 5.—The return just issued by the Registrar General for Ireland shows that the population of Ireland increased last year by 9,462. This follows on an increase of 7,118 during the year 1914. There has been a decrease of births in proportion to population of six per cent, and an increase of deaths of two per cent in the year 1915. The increase of population is due entirely to the diminution in emigration. Emigration in 1914 was 34 per cent less than in 1913, and in 1915 there was a decrease of fifty per cent on the 1914 figures. The increase of population first noted in 1914 and now continued, is the record of increase since the days of the great famine of 1848.

GERMAN ARMY FORTIFIES POSITION OF RUSSIAN LAND.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Pinsk, Russia, April 5.—The thirty odd kilometers of the arc around Pinsk have been fortified since the German army took its position here last September as probably no other section on any front, east, west, or southeast. The Pripet swamp, which on account of the mild winter, has formed a natural barrier between the German and Russian lines, has checked both the German advance and the Russian counterattacks. But the Germans have realized that a single cold snap might make the swamps passable, and to forestall such a thing, they have resorted to every known expedient to make every foot of their positions impenetrable. Beyond Pinsk, in and about which the German forces are lying, is an overgrown Russian village of 45,000 inhabitants, isolated on a tongue of land projecting eastward into the swamps. An Associated Press correspondent, the first newspaper man to visit Pinsk since the Germans occupied it, has just returned from a tour of the Pripet swamp, although he has previously visited several positions in both the "peninsula of Pinsk" and the "swamp of Pripet." The city is flanked on the south by the swift running river Pina. Beyond the river lies half a mile of swamp. Then comes the river Strumen which to the westward turns gradually and the Pina. Still further beyond lies more swamp land, which extends for several miles to the mainland of the Russian position. To the northward runs the river Jassolda, flanked on both sides by miles of swamp lands, on the edge of which lie the German and Russian forces.

Fortunately for the troops which hold the northern section, the only place where an offensive can reasonably be expected, the swamp land terminates in dunes which are easily adapted for defensive purposes. Along this northern section regiments of cavalry have laboriously dug their own trenches, and have perfected every means to make it impossible for the Russians to break through.

SCIENTISTS CELEBRATE HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY OF SCIENTIFIC BUREAU TODAY.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, April 5.—The Coast and Geodetic Survey, father of all the government scientific bureaus, today celebrated its 100th birthday with all the zest and dignity that becomes a thriving centenarian.

While scientists of the bureau sat and listened attentively, and uninitiated spectators tried to find out what was going on and what modern language contained words that averaged fifteen letters and five syllables, scientists from all parts of the country told what the bureau had done for terrestrial magnetism, commerce, geophysics and preparedness. It seemed the survey had a finger in every little pie in the United States and almost every one in the world. During the two-day convention that they opened today, admirals, cabinet officers, professors, doctors, and even the President were to talk about the survey.

An exhibit planned in connection with the celebration at the National Museum, showed the work of the survey and its methods.

Speeches this afternoon were by Dr. Hugh M. Smith, Commissioner of the Bureau of Fisheries; Dr. Louis A. Bauer, director of the Department of Terrestrial Magnetism of the Carnegie Institution; Dr. S. W. Stratton, director of the Bureau of Standards; Rear Admiral Pillsbury, U. S. N., retired, and Dr. George Otis Smith, director of the Geological Survey.

At tonight's meeting Brigadier General Black, chief of the army engineer corps and George R. Putnam, Commissioner of the Bureau of Light-houses are to speak.

J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylvania is to speak of the part played by the bureau in the development of commerce. George Washington Little, hales, engineer in the Hydrographic Office also is to speak.

The meeting will end tomorrow evening with a dinner at which President Wilson, the Swiss Minister, Secretary of Commerce, Redfield, Navy Secretary Daniels and Dr. Thomas Corwin Mendenhall, the oldest ex-superintendent of the survey, are scheduled to speak.

During its century of existence, the survey has had but eleven directors. Ferdinand Rudolph Hassler, the first superintendent, was a native of Switzerland. He served from 1816 until 1843.

SIR JOHN SIMON RETIRED FROM THE BRITISH CABINET BECAUSE OF MILITARY ISSUE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, April 5.—Sir John Simon, who retired from the British Cabinet because he could not agree with his associates on the question of military compulsion, has returned to the bar as a private practitioner. His first big case, a suit between two insurance companies, will come up shortly in the Chancery Division. His retaining fee in this case, $35,000, is an illustration of the enormous rewards which are possible to a high-class lawyer in England.

Jess Willard does not take much stock in a rumor from Milwaukee that a club there seeks to arrange a match between him and Fred Fulton for the last of April of the first of May. Reports say promoters raised $30,000.

While looking for something to ease the irritation that bothered my throat and lungs, a friend advised 'Dr. King's New Discovery.' I bought a bottle, the first dose helped and before the first bottle was used my cold was well."—G. R. Spaven, Smithdale, Ark. At all druggists.

A Simple Aid to Good Health

W. A. Reese, Do Queen, Ark., writes: "For the past year constipation has bothered me very much, but I find Foley Cathartic Tablets are better than anything I have ever used and their action is perfect. Not a grain in a bottle and I will never be without them."
Constipation is becoming one of the curses of our present day civilization, and is especially hard on those who are physically active. With Foley Cathartic Tablets on hand you can keep your stomach sweet, liver active and bowels regular. You can avoid the congested condition that causes sick headache, biliousness, nausea, torpid liver and bloating gases. They cleanse thoroughly and are mild in action, with no nausea and no excessive cathartic effects that make so many cathartics undesirable to take. They are a source of comfort to stout people who from their own free feeling resulting from their use.

Lime Starvation Causes Tuberculosis

The Medical Record (New York) of December 18, 1909, contains an article on "The Treatment of Pulmonary Tuberculosis, Based on the Assumption That the Cause of the Disease is Lime Starvation," by Dr. John P. Russell, who says: "The condition which is recognized as preceding the active development of tuberculosis in the adult may be considered as lime starvation."

Among inorganic substances lime salts appear to be of special physiological importance, but it is the salts as they are in organic combination that it is difficult to suppose that the cells can appropriate them for food.

Years of widespread use confirm us in the belief that the success of Eckman's Alternative in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and chronic bronchitis and bronchitis is due in large measure to its content of lime, so combined with other ingredients as to be easily appropriated by the cells.

Doubtless this has had much to do with the results obtained in many cases of these affections, which appear to have yielded to Eckman's Alternative.

"This tea of George's is preposterous," the lady of Government House was grumbling. "Said we must have this man from Egypt here at once."
"If you were English, no tea could be preposterous," Jane countered, with a brave attempt at lightness. She felt each passing moment a weight adding to the suspense of the inevitable event.

"Well, I'm going to get it through with just as soon as I can," Lady Crandall snapped. Then Jaimie Khan threw open the double doors and announced: "Captain Woodhouse, my lady!"

"Show him up!" She commanded, then in complaint to Jane: "Where do you suppose that husband of mine went? Just like him to suggest a tea and forget to make an appearance."

Captain Woodhouse appeared between the opened doors in khaki and trim puttees. He stood very straight for an instant, his eyes shooting rapidly about the room. Lady Crandall hurried forward to greet him, and a momentary stiffness disappeared. The girl behind her followed slowly, almost reluctantly. Woodhouse grasped her extended hand.

"It was good of you to send the flowers," she murmured. The man smiled appreciation.

"Do you know," he said, "after I see them I thought you'd consider me a bit of a prompter."

"I am learning something every day—about Englishmen," Jane remarked to answer, with a ghost of a smile.

"Always something good, I hope," Woodhouse was quick to retort, his eyes eagerly trying to fathom the cause of the girl's restraint.

He had started forward at her outburst, and now he stood very close to her, his gray eyes cold and unchanging.

"Say it—say the word! I'm not afraid to hear it," he commanded severely. She drew back from him a little, wildly her hands fluttering up as if to fend him off.

"You are in great danger this minute. You were brought here this afternoon to be trapped—exposed and made a laughing stock."

"I was fully aware of that when I came, Miss Gerson," he interrupted. "The invitation, coming so suddenly—so pressing—I think I read it right."

"But the promise you made me gives last night!" Sudden resentment brushed aside for the instant the girl's first flood of sympathy. "That has nothing to do with it. Oh, that was unfair—to make me promise I would not allude to—to our first meeting!"

"Involved you?" She closed one of her hands in his as if to calm her and force more rational speech. "Then you were here three months in nineteen seven."

"Yes, Craigen was governor then," Woodhouse answered guardedly. "You never saw him, General?"

Bishop turned to Sir George. "Big bluff, blustering chap, with a voice like a bull of Bashan. Woodhouse, here, he'll recognize my portrait."

Woodhouse smiled—secret disdain for the clumsy trap was in that smile. "I'm afraid I do not," he said.

"Craigen was considered a small, at most a delicate man," he had recognized the bungling emphasis laid by Bishop on the Craigen characteristics, and his answer was pretty safely given by choosing the opposites.

Bishop looked flustered for the instant, then admitted Woodhouse was right. He had confused Sir David Craigen with his predecessor, he said in excuse.

"I fancy I ought to remember the man," he had tea in this very room several times," Woodhouse ventured. He let his eyes rove as if in reminiscence. Much the same here—as except, General Craigen I think he called that fireplace. He indicated the heavy Gothic ornament on the opposite side of the room.

Jane caught her breath under the sure secret of the man's eyes. The fact that she had carelessly given him in their conversation a few moments back the girl saw a flicker of surprise cross General Craigen's face. Lady Crandall broke in.

"You have a good memory, after all, Captain Woodhouse. That fireplace is five years old."

"I don't know," her husband admitted. "Clever piece of work though, I don't believe anybody by its show of antiquity."

General Craigen called for a second slice of lemon in his cup. He was obviously waiting for another opening, but was impressed by the show of the suspected man was making. Bishop pushed the inquiry another step.

"Did you happen to be present, Captain, at the farewell dinner we gave little Billy Barnes? I think it must have been in the spring you were here."

"There were many dinners, Major Bishop," Woodhouse was careful selecting his words, and he broke his sentences with a sip from his cup. Seven years is a long time, you know. We have much else to think about in Egypt than old dinners elsewhere."

Bishop appeared struck by an inspiration. He clamped his cup into its saucer with a sudden bang.

"Fancy it, man, you must have been here in the days of Lady Evelyn. Remember her don't you?"

"Would I be likely to forget?" the captain parried. Out of the tail of his eye he had a flash of Jane Gerson's white face, of her eyes seeking his with a palpitant, hunted look. The message of her eyes brought to him an instant of grace in sore trial.

"Seven years of Egypt—make of a hotter place—could make a man forget her!" The major was raising on the behalf of those who had not come under the spell of the charmer. David Craigen's wife, and as lovely a woman as ever came out from England. Every man on the Rock lost his heart that spring. Woodhouse, even in three months' time you must have fallen like the rest of us."

"I'd rather not incriminate myself," Woodhouse smiled sagely. To pass his cup to Lady Crandall to be refilled.

"Don't blame you," Bishop caught him up. "A most outrageous flirt, and there was the devil to him. Evelyn's heart was as thick on the Rock that year as strawberries in May, including poor Craigen's. And after young subaltern tried to kill himself—you'll remember that, Woodhouse."

Sir David nodded the fair charmer off to England. Then he simply ate his heart out and died."

Woodhouse met her eyes boldly. Lady Crandall, bustling in at this minute, directed a maid where to wheel the tea wagon, while Jane went to assist her with the pouring. The men soon had their cups, and the general and major continued to grip themselves with Woodhouse sitting between them. Sir George, affecting a gruff geniality, launched a question: "Back look familiar to you, Captain?"

"After a fashion, yes," Woodhouse answered slowly. "Though three months is so short a time for one to get a lasting impression."

"Nonsense!" The general approved gustily. "Some places you see once you never forget. This old Rock is one of them; eh, Bishop?"

"I don't know," the chunky little officer replied. "The powers back home never give me a chance to get away and forget." There was a pause as the men sipped their tea. Woodhouse broke the silence.

"Man can be stationed in worse places than Gibraltar."

"If you mean Egypt, I agree with you," Crandall assented. "There's six years."

"Were you, General? What station?" Woodhouse was coolly stirring his tea, sympathetically at his ease. Jane drew back to the man as she turned over the tea wagon, filled her own cup with hot water inadvertently. She tried to laugh over the mistake, but her fingers trembled as she poured the water back into the kettle.

"Not on the lazy old Nile, as you were—lucky dog!" the general returned. "Out on the yellow sands—at Arkovian—a place in the sun, never fear!"

The women had their cups now, and joined the men, sitting a little behind. Jane caught a shrewd sideways glance from the general—a glance that sought a quick and sure reading of her emotions. She poised her cup as if expecting a question and the glance turned aside. But it had warned the girl that she was not altogether a passive factor in the situation. She set a guard over her features.

"Let me see, Captain Woodhouse"—it was little Bishop who took up the probe—"you must have been here in the days when Craigen was governor—saw your papers have it that you were here three months in nineteen seven."

"Yes, Craigen was governor then," Woodhouse answered guardedly. "You never saw him, General?"

Bishop turned to Sir George. "Big bluff, blustering chap, with a voice like a bull of Bashan. Woodhouse, here, he'll recognize my portrait."

"What an affecting picture!" Jane commented. "One lone woman capturing the garrison of Gibraltar!"

General Craigen rose to set his cup on the tea wagon. With the most casual air in the world, he addressed himself to Woodhouse:

"When Sir David died, many of his effects were left in this house to await their proper owner's disposition, and Lady Craigen has been—er—delicate about claiming them. Among them was the portrait of Lady Craigen herself which still hangs in this room. Have you recognized it, Captain?"

Woodhouse, whose mind had been leaping forward, vainly trying to divine the object of the Lady Evelyn lead, now knew and the knowledge left him beyond his resources. He recognized the moment of his unmasking. But the man's nerve was steady, even in extremity. He rose and turned to face the rear wall of the library, against the tapestry of which hung four oil portraits in their deep old frames of heavy gold. Three of these were of women. A fourth, also the likeness of a woman, hung over the fireplace. Chances were four to one against blind choice.

As Woodhouse slowly lifted his eyes to the line of portraits, he noticed that the picture had moved to place the broad torso shade of a floor lamp on its tall standard of mahogany between himself and the other two men so that her face was momentarily hidden from them. She looked quickly at the portrait over the mantel and away again. Woodhouse, knowing himself the object of two pairs of hostile eyes, made his survey deliberately, with purpose increasing the tension of the moment. His eyes ranged the line of portraits on the rear wall, then turned to that one over the fireplace.

"Ah, yes, a rather good likeness, eh, Major?" He drew the identification with a disinterested air.

Crandall's manner underwent instant change. His former slightly strained punctiliousness gave way to naturalness and easy spirit. The world have said he was advocate for a man on trial, for whom the jury had just pronounced, "Not proven." Scotch verdict, yes, but one acceptable enough to the governor of Gibraltar. The desk telephone sounded just then, and General Crandall answered. After listening briefly, he gave the orders, "Dress Fags!" and hung up the receiver.

"That's just entering the harbor, signal tower reports," he explained to the others. "Miss Gerson, if you care to step here to the window you'll see something quite worth while."

Jane left her seat and to the point of mild hysteria at the noticeable relaxation of strain denoting danger passed, bounded to a double French window giving on a balcony and commanding a view of all the bay to the Spanish shore. She exclaimed, in awe:

"Ships—ships! Hundreds of them! Why, General, what—" consequently he distrusted every thing that smacked of conversation of energy. Now he stood by the kitchen table reading the labels on parcels his wife had brought home from town.

"Self-raising flour," he said. "Ah, gad! they'll be inventing self-raising wheat next to throw us poor devils out of another job."

A temperance lecturer, in the course of an address, gazed severely at his all too apathetic audience. "Beware, men!" he shouted. "Beware! The drink curse is heading you all for that inferno paved with chorus girls, champagne and automobiles."

"There was an immediate response. A chair scraped in the rear of the hall as the town souse kudded to his feet and peered owlishly at the speaker.

"Death," he whispered fervently, "where ish shy shing—oh grave, where ish zhy vichy?"

DRYS MAY WIN IN WHITEWATER CITY

One Undecided Vote In City of White- water May Make Thirteen Saloons Go Out of Business

Out of business.
[Special to the Gazette.]
Whitewater, April 5.—The contest between the wets and dries was very close and after a re-count it was found that the question was at a tie. When they first counted over the results were given six votes majority for the dries. The wets were charged that the town men got dry. There is a question of one of the dry votes, the deciding one, as to whether it is marked right. If the decision is in favor of the no-license faction the city of Whitewater will go dry.

The city of Whitewater has thirteen saloons will be thrown out of business and for the first time in thirty-eight years the city of Whitewater will be saloonless. Eight hundred and forty votes were cast. Both sides put up a set of the best and many worked hard to get the voters out.

ST. MARY'S LOSE TO METHODISTS 25-17

Catholics Are Defeated In Close Game at High School Last Evening.

Only one church game was played last night at the high school gymnasium and that was between the Methodists and St. Mary's church boys. The former five had little trouble with getting away with the game and the final score was 25 to 17 in their favor. During the first part of the game the play was rather slow and the score was 13 to 4 in favor of the Methodists. The Catholic five crept up slowly in the second part of the game and when the whistle blew for time they were eight points behind.

Beard, Platten and Brotherson were the chief scorers for their team, while Willard Skelly was the heaviest one for the Catholics. Following are the lineups that were used last night: Methodist—Beard, Brotherson, Hill, Brownell and Platten. St. Mary's—McDermott, Flannery, Skelly, W. Skelly and Koch.

BAUMANN'S COLTS GET 2668 IN MATCH GAME LAST NIGHT

Baumann's Colts hit a tournament stride last night in a match game with the Bower City Creamery. In the three events 2,668 of the pins fell before them. In the last game they received a total of 919. Baumann was high man, rolling 235 in the last event. Scores:

Baumann's Colts.

CINCINNATI BOXING BOARD WILL SUPERVISE TRAINING.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Cincinnati, O., April 5.—The Cincinnati Boxing Commission has taken over supervision of all training camps as well as the boxing contests and among the rules that govern these camps is one that forbids women boxing admitted to the camps at any time. The rule provides that training camps must be regularly incorporated according to the laws of Ohio and must have a charter from the Secretary of State hung in a prominent place.

The Commission also has a rule barring women from regular public boxing bouts.

BURNS WILL HAVE TO SHOW FORM TO HOLD TIGER JOB.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Detroit, Mich., April 4.—Late reports from writers with the Detroit American league baseball club, indicate that George Burns will have to show considerable improvement in his batting to retain his job as first baseman. Harry Heilmann, the recruit utility man from San Francisco, has been hitting better than 300 and fielding splendidly.

THREE GRAND CIRCUIT STARS WILL RACE AT DETROIT MEET.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Detroit, Mich., April 5.—Three former stars of the Grand circuit are entered in the important stake races at the Detroit meeting this season. These come-backs are Joe Patchen II, Edington and Omar. The allowance race enables fast horses to enter such races as the M. and M. after they have been incapacitated for a season.

WOOD SAYS KINK HAS LEFT HIS ARM

Joe Wood.

Joe Wood, the strike-ball king, of the Boston Red Sox, believes the final kink has left his arm and that he will be ready to pick up in 1916 where he left off in 1912. Joe is only twenty-six years old.

For the first time in the forty-one years of the Kentucky derby, Clarence H. Mackay noted turfman makes a nomination for the $15,000 stake at Louisville. Mackay enters two royally bred colts, Baffouilleur and Esprit de Gaulois, neither of which has yet faced a starter, owing to closing of European tracks.

The Pittsburgh Pirates are dealing with the New York Giants for Jim Thorpe, famous Indian Olympic athlete, to play in their outfield and expect to get him. If they fail to land the redskin, Manager McGraw will let them have Outfielder George Kelly.

Joe Tinker evidently has reason for changing his mind on the subject of his infield. During the National league meeting in New York last winter the manager of the Cubs made the statement that his team would walk in with the National league pennant; that he had the best infield in either major league. Made up of Sailer on first, Yerkes on second, Doolin on short and Zimmerman on third. Sailer and Zimmerman are good ball players, but Yerkes and Doolin are two castoffs who have been through so far as the major leagues are concerned for Stories coming from Tampa, where the Cubs are training, are to the effect that all is not pleasant among the players. Those of the old Cub team are sore on the element which came from the Peds, who, it is charged, are being favored by Joe Tinker. Tinker, however, denies that such is the case, and has made the following statement about the matter: "I offer a reward for any one who can show the slightest dissension in the club. The players have been and are giving me the best that is in them, but some of the men were slowed up on account of a sandy field. Of course we expect a lot of knocking, but it is coming pretty early."

Frank S. O'Neill, former New York boxing commissioner, says in defense of boxing: "There are considerations which may lead a man to the ring, although our sentimentalists probably will be unable to understand such feelings. One may take pleasure in the contemplation of skill, adroitness and strength, of unfinching courage, of steady coolness and of endurance in bearing fatigue and pain with equanimity. High and many qualities—these are they not? Possibly, so far from demoralizing or degrading the onlooker, they may tend to elevate his ideas of the braver capabilities of human nature. I hardly think that the most bitter opponent of boxing will maintain that the mere sight of blood is demoralizing or degrading. That would be a very gross sentiment to inculcate. Civilization and refinement are excellent things, but they need not be confused with mere womanishness. Nor must men learn to faint at the sight of blood as the proof of their refinement."

Tommy Leach, who will manage the Rochester (N. Y.) club, is hunting the big league training camps for surplus pitchers.

Hans Wagner says hitting is not an art, but a process.

The National league is packed with southpaws this season. Boston has Nehf and Tyler; Brooklyn has Rucker, Marquard and Smith; the Cubs have Vaughn, Pierce and a couple of others; so on all down the line—every team has a fleet of left-handers just waiting for any other club that may show signs of weakness against portside pitching.

Both the Philadelphia clubs have same-name batteries. The Athletics have Myers and Meyers, and the Nationals have Adams and Adams.

Tom Griffith has made two ridiculous muffs at New Orleans—about as many as he will make in fifty games during the regular season.

The hottest kind of a race is on for the shortest job on the St. Louis Browns. Ernie Johnson and Jimmie Lavan are the rivals and both say they'll win out. Johnson, who was a sensation on the coast, has just donned his uniform after two weeks' lay-off on account of a sore arm.

Charley Barrett, Cornell football hero, has given up athletics and is employed at Youngstown, O., by Republic Iron and Steel Co. He decided to go into the steel business when Cornell's faculty fanned him in studies.

Racegoers of Sydney, Australia, have donated their field-glasses for equipment of Australian soldiers going to the front. Nine hundred pairs were collected to aid the boys in the trenches in sighting their enemies.

Charlie Weeghman, owner of the Cubs and former leading light in the Federal league, considers the Baltimore Peds' $900,000 suit a joke. "President Gilmore, Harry Sincclair and I did all we could for all clubs concerned in the peace settlement," said Weeghman. "The Baltimore club authorized our action."

George Cunningham, star South-orn league twirler, looks like a big noise for the Detroit Tigers. He went the full route for them against San Antonio recently and blanked the Texans 6 to 0.

President Tener of the National league denies that organized ball is liable in the $900,000 suit of the Baltimore Fed magnates who claim they were frozen out in the peace settlement. "I fail to see that we have violated the anti-trust laws," says Tener.

Connie Mack has signed another college player in Otis C. Lawry, captain of the University of Maine baseball team. Lawry, regarded as the best ever on a Maine team, joins the Mackmen in June.

"It's a strange thing," remarked Freddie Welsh, "but I've been unusually successful against Hebrew boxers. I defeated Matt Wells and regained my English lightweight championship. I defeated Attell twice and many others. That's why thoughts of Leonard knocking me out haven't entered my head."

Welsh has made a quarter of a million dollars in boxing. He was never knocked out in his life and Packer McFarland is the only man who ever knocked him off his feet in all his 155 fights.

When Moran went to the bank to deposit nearly $25,000, he was asked by the teller to sign a check for the sum. Moran, who was jokingly said, "Goodbye for many a long day, little cuties. I'm going to LIVE on you all the rest of my life." With that Moran turned on his heel and said that he would forget that he ever banked the money.

Jim Corbett was talking about Joe Choynski recently. "Great and game little fighter," said Jim, "and he would have been champion of the world had he not lived so close to the Corbets. I kept Joe out of the Joe fight by always whipping him. Joe spent half his career trying to whip me."

Time will come when ball players will not be permitted to do anything but play ball. Joe Tinker, proffing by two automobile accidents in which he had narrow escapes, has ordered his athletes to refrain from motor-ing. George Stallings seconded the motion. Buck Herzog has barred bowling and Connie Mack has instructed his Athletics to cut out golf. Now Clark Griffith bans bowling.

HURLER AD BRENNAN SENT TO THE SAINTS

Ad Brennan.

Ad Brennan, the high salaried southpaw of the revised Cubs' team, will perform for the benefit of the St. Paul fans this summer, providing Mike Kelley, the manager of the Saints, thinks Ad has enough stuff to entertain the fans of that city. Manager Tinker says Brennan isn't good enough for fast company this year, but may develop by 1917.

The reptile is 18 inches long and 3½ around. Its back, head and tail are jet black and its stomach is the color of human flesh and covered with short, fine hair. It has a long wheel base, two speeds backward, and none forward. When it is irritated it turns as follows. Nobody knows what it eats because the darned thing has gone on a hunger strike.

At a certain foreign university the students, who had been studying Shakespeare in their native tongue, were requested by an examiner to translate into English the opening lines of Hamlet's soliloquy, "To be or not to be."

TOMAH TO HAVE A NEW LIBRARY THIS SPRING.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Tomah, Wis., April 5.—This city will have a new library this spring, to be called the Carnegie-Buckley library after the donors. The old building which has served as a library since 1903 will be moved from the site. The growth of the institution since it was founded in 1902 has been rapid. Dr. Ernest R. Buckley, a geologist and resident of this city when a boy, provided in his will for the establishment of a new library but as the sum was not sufficient, the Carnegie foundation made up the deficit.

WHAT WILL MEN DO WHEN THEY COME TO WANT JOBS AGAIN?

Nine Hundred Thousand Women Reported to be at Work in the City of Berlin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Berlin, April 5.—Nearly 900,000 women are now at one kind of work or another in Berlin. They have swarmed into almost every field of activity, no matter how difficult; they are earning more money than they ever had before; many have lost their own bread winners and are for all time dependent upon their own efforts. The probable unwillingness of the women to go back to their homes after the war is being more and more anticipated by the labor leaders who say the women must go in favor of the men when the time comes.

By far the largest proportion of the women now employed in Berlin are unskilled workers—perhaps 600,000 of the 900,000. Of the remaining 300,000 skilled workers, only a small part are customarily so employed. They have done wonderfully well, even in such difficult and strenuous occupations as meat work, but they are not because of physical handicaps, the equal of their male predecessors.

Just how large will be the number of widows, or of women left with crippled husbands, after the war, the labor leaders do not attempt as yet to estimate. These, on the one hand constitute, however, but part of the problem of the city, as the question of what to do with the women who, though they later will have other means of support, are expected deliberately to balk at returning to a non-productive life again. The employer who has had to hire women more cheaply than men, will be loath to change to the old method, and for a time is not going to be able to afford it. The not inconsiderable degree of diplomacy combined with a judicious use of compulsion is going to be necessary, labor leaders feel, before the problem can be adjusted.

There is hardly an industry in which women have not crowded during the past year. The employment of women as street-car conductors is already an old and familiar condition, and women "conductors" have become more or less familiar sights even in the busy downtown streets of Berlin. The first woman taxicab chauffeur was noted early last summer, and she has maintained her position since then. The construction company building the new tube under the Friedrichstrasse connecting the northern and southern sections of the city has for months employed women "diggers," young and old, in shovelling out the sandy underpinning of the street.

Two years ago the streets of the capital were cleaned by men of military age. Their places were taken by boys, and now women are being introduced as fast as the youths grow up to military age and enter the army. It is a common sight on any street to see coal being carried into residences from teams by women instead of men.

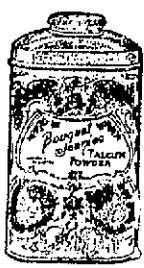

The underground railway companies of Berlin months ago installed women as ticket checkers, and there introduced them as guards. When it was found that their dresses frequently got caught in doors, the companies did not go back to male help but ordered the women to don bloomers, and today there are more of them to be seen than men.

Even Germans, accustomed to seeing women performing heavy duties, gasped a little when they heard of the steam railroads, in addition to installing women at the stations for minor duties, had put them in as track walkers, switch tenders and track layers. Yet the Prussian railroads today have a large number of women now in their employ.

It is almost universally admitted that women do not adequately substitute for the men. Women conductors, for instance, are said to be about 50 per cent as efficient as their male predecessors, and only about half of those who go to work as conductors are able to stand the strain. There has been a notable increase in certain women's diseases, resulting directly from this work.

Few of the men, it is hard to work more strenuous than menial work, which just now, of course, is booming because of the need of ammunition. Yet there are thousands of women employed today, who do not seem to mind the heavy work, and who are earning, relatively, a great deal of money.

WAR HAS COST HOLLAND FUNDRED AND FORTY MILLION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Hague, Netherlands, April 5.—The war has so far cost Holland a clear $140,000,000. Further, reckoning the demands of the intervening period at $8,000,000 a month, the new Minister of Finance, Doctor Anton van Goy, estimates that by August 1 next a balance of $300,000,000 will have been spent on the mobilized land and sea forces and in meeting the various other extraordinary demands made on the treasury by the war crisis.

Of the amount of $110,000,000 was raised by a five per cent loan issued after the first three or four months of war, and the problem now facing this country is how to provide the balance of $200,000,000. The bill has just been presented to the Dutch parliament embodying a straightforward and fairly bold solution of the question. The new minister of finance therein proposes to raise as much as $22,000,000 by a special levy, termed a "defense tax" in the financial year beginning May 1 next, to obtain another $18,000,000, and to have recourse to a loan for the balance of $20,000,000. The actual loan, however, is to amount to $50,000,000 out of which, assuming the war will end, the extra $30,000,000 will be utilized to cover the floating debt, accruing from the ordinary budgets of 1914, 1915 and 1916.

Seeing that the floating debt of the Netherlands East Indies will also have to be consolidated shortly, it is evident that heavy demands will be made on the money market here before long. As, however, it is largely a matter of replacing floating by a fixed debt, it is not expected that the market will be greatly influenced, and the powerful position of the Netherlands bank—whose gold stocks now amount to $190,000,000—and the general plentifulness of money here, renders the prospects of the coming loans bright.

GERMANY PASSES LAWS TO REGULATE THE USE OF COFFEE IN COUNTRY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dresden, Germany, April 5.—A novel move toward regulating the gradually decreasing coffee supply in Germany, and especially toward preventing the hoarding of coffee, has been taken by the government of Saxony. In a recent decree it forbids the sale by retailers of unroasted coffee, and makes infractions of the rule punishable by imprisonment up to six weeks, a fine up to 1500 marks, or both. The government believes that this rule will entirely do away with coffee hoarding, since roasted coffee cannot be kept for long without losing its strength and flavor.
